A word from Fr. Bill.....

Dear Parishioners:

In the Gospel this weekend, Bartimaeus, who is blind, tells Jesus he would like to see. How blind might we be to some of the needs of God's people? Do we pray that we would like Jesus to remove some of our blindness. Jesus is willing to do that but we have to be open to some of the resources he uses to help us "to see."

One resource we can take advantage of in order to help us "to see" is a workshop entitled, "Catholic Social Teaching: Jesus' Call and Our Response." It will take place on Saturday, November 17th from 9:00 AM to 3:00 PM at St. Gabriel Parish Gym at 2917 Dickinson Street (19146) in Philadelphia.

The workshop will explore the Seven Themes of Catholic Social Teaching from an understanding of sacred scripture and the teachings of the Church Documents. The afternoon panel presentation will offer participants information and application to social justice in action, along with volunteer opportunities.

The speakers include:

Sister Laura Downing, I.H.M. STL - Instructor in Theology – Immaculata University

Amy Stoner LSW, ACSW and Ed Lis, MA – Catholic Social Services Archdiocese of Phila.

Peter Marks, Esquire – Former Labor Union Official and Labor Lawyer– United Food and Commercial Workers (UFCW)

Father Jack Deegan, O.S.A and Lacie Michaelson of Augustinian Defenders of the Rights of the Poor (ADROP)

Chris McNally, Esquire – Attorney of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Administrative Law Judge, career in public service, contributor to Commonwealth Magazine

There is no charge per se for the workshop or for lunch, but there will be an opportunity for a free will offering.

If you are interested in participating in this workshop, please be in touch with me. This may a resource for some of us individually and perhaps an opportunity for us as a parish "to see" more clearly some of the needs of our brothers and sisters and insights on how we might respond.

Have a great week.

Fr. Bill
